

NEW YORK SCHOOLKIDS ARE TAUGHT TO CARE FOR THE PENNIES

Depositors in New York school children's bank.

The board of education of the city of New York has instituted a bank wherein the school children of the city are depositors. Believing that the encouragement of thrift in youngsters is a good service, the board of education is teaching them to look after the pennies and when they are older they will have dollars that will care for themselves.

ROBINSON SURE OF HIS ELECTION

And There is Conviction Everywhere That Hughes Will Sweep West Virginia.

CHARLESTON, Oct. 21.—"I am absolutely confident of my election," said Judge Ira E. Robinson, Republican nominee for governor here Friday at the close of a ten-day period of campaigning in the southern tier of counties of West Virginia.

"In no campaign since 1900 have the Republicans in West Virginia been more closely united, or, more determined to win, than they are this year," he added.

Within the last six weeks Judge Robinson has campaigned in thirty-two of the fifty-five counties of the state.

making from one to eight speeches in each county visited. In the remaining period of the campaign he will visit the counties in which he has not yet spoken. No candidate for governor in West Virginia has ever made so complete a canvass. The development of West Virginia's highways and the motor car have made it possible for many communities to see and hear a gubernatorial candidate for the first time.

Everywhere Judge Robinson has been greeted by unusually large crowds, and wherever he has spoken he has commanded closer attention, perhaps, than any candidate who ever stumped the state. There is every indication that the people believe and trust him when he says that he stands on the old doctrine of equal rights to all and special privileges to none.

He said when he entered the campaign that he would conduct it on a plane of statesmanship becoming the office to which he sought election and he has adhered strictly to this plan. The main issue in the campaign is the Dawson tax laws, enacted by the Republicans under the administration of the late Governor W. M. O. Dawson. Those laws were designed to equalize tax burdens, and did operate to increase taxes on coal holdings and other mineral lands, which had previously been assessed at low values. Cornwell conducted a losing campaign on that issue against Governor Dawson in 1904, and there is now every indication that history will repeat in his campaign against Judge Robinson.

No alarm should be felt by Republicans over the alleged sentiment in West Virginia for President Wilson, as shown by the straw votes being published in some newspapers, for this sentiment has been very carefully developed by the representatives sent out by the newspapers in question, to take the vote. In Bluefield a few days ago small groups of men were canvassed on the streets and in the hotel lobbies, and straw votes taken only after the Democratic leanings of the crowds had first been ascertained. In Hinton and Charleston the same practice was pursued. Colored men, in nearly every instance of straw voting, were excluded, and on many of the ballots Democrats are known to have voted twice.

West Virginia is for Hughes by the normal majority of 20,000 to 30,000, is the opinion of every leading Republican in the state.

HATFIELD HAS LARGE CROWDS

And He is Loudly Applauded When He Drives Great Political Truths Home.

PARSONS, Oct. 21.—Governor Hatfield after campaigning for four days in the eastern panhandle counties, entered Tucker county Friday, speaking at Flanager Hill and Jennings. Here a crowded court room listened to his third address of the day. The governor made thirteen speeches in the counties of Morgan, Hampshire, Hardy and Grant, being greeted in nearly every place by a greater crowd of voters than ever attended political meetings in these places. In many places the crowd overtaxed the capacity of the buildings and in several instances the governor was compelled to deliver his message to the people from platforms. Following every address he has invited his hearers to ask any questions bearing on the subject discussed, in his effort to make clear the position of the Republican party and its candidates in the present campaign.

As during the week the failure of the Democrats to keep their promises nationally and the method of Cornwell in resorting to falsifications and misrepresentations were dealt with in detail.

"I defy the Democratic candidate or the Democratic speakers to point to one promise made by the Republican party in 1912 that has not been fulfilled in faith, and since Mr. Cornwell has charged extravagance, I ask him to point to one item, to name one institution from which he would withdraw the support given it." He invited any one to name one constructive piece of legislation proposed by the Democrats. Mr. Cornwell says the Dawson tax laws have proved a failure. Do you want to go back to the old method and pay $1.25 instead of five and one-half cents state tax?" he asked his audience, and then presented figures proving his contention. "Beginning with next year," said the governor, "it will not be necessary, unless something extraordinary should occur, and the present revenue laws remain intact, for the board of public works to lay a levy of one cent to run the state government and its institutions. That will be the accomplishment of the purpose of the Dawson tax laws, and yet Mr. Cornwell says these laws have been a failure and wants to go back to the direct tax method so that the burden of taxation will be paid by the citizens of the state instead of the corporations."

At the instance of County Chairman A. R. Stallings, the meeting here was presided over by Wayne K. Pitt.

LABOR THE GOAT OF WILSON TRICK

Adamson Law is Sword Handled Labor to Kill the Latter, Says Allen.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—An explanation of the action of the presidents of great railway systems who have recently declared their support of President Wilson was suggested here last night by Henry J. Allen, of Kansas, in a speech on the Adamson law, study this bill," said Mr. Allen, "the more they will dislike it, and the more the railroad presidents contemplate it, the greater their satisfaction with it."

"Perhaps you have been surprised to note that the heads of certain great railroads have recently made public letters in which they urge the re-election of President Wilson. I am not surprised under the provisions of the Adamson law railroad capitalists are no longer menaced by railroad unionism, for Congress becomes the source of settlement, and they can deal more easily with organized labor."

"The administration has handed the sword for labor to kill itself," continued Mr. Allen. "Why are Lovett, chairman of the Union Pacific, and F. D. Underwood, president of the Erie Railroad Company, so enthusiastic for Wilson? Is it because they are so displeased with the Adamson law? Where is the nigger in the woodpile? Is labor to be the goat? Was this bill a gun loaded by labor or a gun loaded for labor? This wage increase did not come out of Wilson's pocket or out of the pocket of the administration. No eight hour day with ten hours' pay for the railway postal clerks or other postal employees! No! That rail would show in the Wilson administration appropriation bill.

"Labor is again the football of politics. How often have its sage counsellors warned it away from entangling political alliances on the proud boast of labor that its vote could neither be bought nor delivered? Has it endured until now only to be sold to the party soliciting this vote with a rainbow just before election?"
